Advice.

What you sow, that shall you reap,
And where a will there is a way;
So take a look before you leap,
And in the sunshine make thy hay.
Never stop to say you can't,
But keep the middle of the lane;
For willful waste makes woeful want,
And sunshine always after rain.
Put not your trust in any king;
But to the great aspire—
A bird that can should always sing—
No smoke without some fire.
Never seek to gain by force—
The happy man must ever toil—
A straw will tell the breeze's course—
A pot you watch will never boil.
Work before you think of play,
For steep the hills we must ascend;
But know that Fate will find a way,
And long the road that has no bend.
Pick the beam from out thine eye,
And plant potatoes by the moon;
But never spill the milk and cry—
A little horse is curried soon.
Don't climb a hill before it's reached
Or kick before you feel the spur;
But always practice what you've preached—
Ne'er tender-handed seize a burr.
A child that's burned the fire will dread,
And evil deeds are hid at night—
One half a loaf is still some bread—
The dog's own hair will cure the bite.
And when you catch a "black cat"—well?
But you have heard the adage old,
That in the horse the blood will tell,
And silence 'oft is reckoned gold.
Always mind your own affairs,
But try to see behind the paint;
For shadows often come from hairs,
And many things seem what they ain't.
Don't lock the stable after loss,
Or bite at every tempting bait—
A rolling stone will get no moss,
But all things come to them that wait.
And never say "I told you so,"
For that is hard to bear;
And never to a goat's house go,
Unless in search of hair.
Remember in the sea of blue
Full many fishes wait the net;
And if the angler's tales be true,
The larger ones are swimming yet.

Sudden Death.

Mr. Bartley Pierce, one of the oldest residents of the Forks of Elkhorn neighborhood, died suddenly at his home Thursday, aged 75 years. He was a bachelor with no children and Mr. Joseph Holton had made his home with him for years. For a number of years he had charge of the Wood-lake Farm when owned by Mrs. Col. J. Russell Butler, but when that lady sold the place and returned to Louisville to live he purchased a small farm lying between the Forks of Elkhorn and Switzer, where he has since resided. He had no kindred and made his will some years ago leaving all he had to Mr. Holton.

A Perfect Success.

The initial dance of the German Club given at the Capital Hotel Thursday evening was a delightful affair. There were a number of young people present from Paris and Lexington and the German was admirably led by Mr. Sam D. Johnson and wife. A feature of these dances this season is, that they commence promptly at 8:30 o'clock and close at 12:30.

To Make a New Feed.

Messrs. W. A. Gaines & Co. are making arrangements at their Hermitage and Old Crow distilleries to manufacture a new kind of feed for cattle and horses from the refuse still slop which formerly was thrown away. By a new process the slop is dried into cakes which make a very nutritious food for stock of all kinds, and its manufacture will turn into money material which has heretofore been worthless waste around distilleries, generally being run into streams or thrown out upon the ground, where the stench arising from it was a nuisance to the neighborhood.

Frankfort College.

This institution is steadily growing in numbers and large accessions are expected after the holidays. A college of this grade and so efficiently managed is an honor to the community and well deserves the favor shown it.

A rich entertainment by the pupils in the Elocution and Delsarte classes is to be given next Friday evening, the 21st, at 7:30.

Physicians Puzzled.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, is sold at J. W. Gayle's. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for Heart Disease. Mrs. Chas. Boney, Loveland, Col., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant book on heart disease free. 4

The Modern Mother

Has found that her little ones are improved more by the pleasant laxative, Syrup of Figs, when in need of the laxative effect of a gentle remedy than by any other, and that it is more acceptable to them. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

DO YOU RUN A DAIRY?

—If so you can save money by using the—

PEORIA GLUTEN FEED.

It increases the quantity and quality of milk and can be fed at a cost of five cents per day. A cow increases in milk more than pays for feed. Messrs. Crutcher & Moore and Mr. George C. Shaw will be pleased to have you call and investigate its qualities.
